Merck Publishes 2014 Global Corporate Responsibility Report

9/10/2015

Online Report Demonstrates Commitment to Operating as a Responsible Business and Highlights Progress in Addressing Global Health and Development Challenges

Merck (NYSE:MRK), known as MSD outside the United States and Canada, today issued its 2014 global corporate responsibility report, which provides an overview of its priorities, programs and performance in the areas of Access to Health, Environmental Sustainability, Employees and Ethics & Transparency.

With partners around the world, Merck is pursuing opportunities where the need is great and its resources and expertise can have the most impact. Highlights from the 2014 report include:

- Developing breakthrough treatments and partnerships to combat Ebola, cancer, hepatitis C and other unmet medical needs
- Expanding global access to more than 30 medicines to reach at-need communities
- Improving the quality of maternal healthcare for millions of women through Merck for Mothers and its partners in more than 30 countries
- Reducing water use by 20 percent since 2009, and emissions of greenhouse gases by 12 percent since 2012, helping to preserve and protect our environment
- Pairing employees through our Merck Fellowship for Global Health with non-profit organizations for three-month, field-based, pro bono assignments that allow organizations to significantly expand their reach and capacity by leveraging employees' business expertise
- Receiving the Top Company for Employee Resource Groups award from DiversityInc for innovation in driving

business performance through the Merck Employee Business Resource Groups

“Corporate responsibility is integral to the fabric of our company and reflected in every aspect of our business,” said Kenneth C. Frazier, chairman and chief executive officer, Merck. “Our mission to advance innovative solutions that improve and save lives is central to this long-standing commitment, which recognizes that our success is contingent upon the mutually reinforcing value that we create with our communities and society.”

Merck continues to use several external guidelines and measurement frameworks to inform the scope of its reporting, including the Global Reporting Initiative, the Millennium Development Goals, the Access to Medicine Index and the United Nations Global Compact.
